Environment & Natural Resources Section, Health Care Law Section, and Administrative and Regulatory Law Committee

The Environment & Natural Resources Section, Health Care Law Section and Administrative & Regulatory Law Committee have come together again to deliver a CLE seminar that you do not want to miss!
To get the day started, attendees will be given the option of two breakout sessions. In Breakout A, Alex Shissias will provide an update on state and federal environmental case law for 2013. In addition, Catherine Templeton and Marshall Taylor will provide need-to-know information on changes within DHEC as well as forthcoming initiatives and their respective impacts on the regulated community.
Breakout B will feature Jon Wallace who will focus on South Carolina and federal regulatory framework and enforcement pertaining to the prescribing, dispensing and use of controlled substances. Following Wallace, Sheridon Spoon and Elizabeth Thomas will provide an overview of common scope of practice issues, including a focus on the areas where scope of practices overlap and intersect with other licenses.
Just before concluding, the seminar will come together for an exciting panel session that will focus on how the criminal investigation process works in the environmental and health care areas and tips to keep clients out of the pokey.
