Government & Administrative Law - Looking Back and Looking Forward

This year, the Government Law Section and the Administrative Law Committee are teaming up to provide an insightful and very timely CLE. The presenters are private and public sector attorneys who will provide updates on the Administrative Procedures Act and the Freedom of Information Act, as well as on ethics and legislative matters. A highlight will be an ethics panel consisting of a legislator, the general counsel of the S.C. State Ethics Commission and the chief counsel of the House Judiciary Committee, who will explore the issues related to the doctrines of self-dealing and honest services fraud. The panel will examine whether public officials can ethically vote to contract with or employ immediate family members, as well as the lessons to be taken from the Bell, California scandal. Finally, there will also be a panel discussion by three members of the General Assembly who will give a legislative review of 2010 and a legislative preview of 2011. If your practice includes administrative or governmental law matters, you will not want to miss this CLE!
