Health Law: Trials, Tribulations, Triumphs, and Trends

The Health Law Section has put together a varied afternoon of panels and speakers to appeal to all practitioners in this area. First up, authorities on Artificial Intelligence (AI) will speak about its use and the potential for abuse in the healthcare field. Next, we will hear from attorneys who will discuss private equity's growing role in the healthcare field. A former acting U.S. Attorney now in private practice, as well as state and federal government attorneys will discuss trends in the healthcare fraud enforcement space with some lessons for compliance. We will wrap the afternoon up with a quick look at what legislation to be aware of that has recently passed and what is being considered as we look ahead.
