Memory Hold the Door

Endowment Memorials

The purpose of these memorials is to preserve, for the inspiration of future generations, the spirit and high ethical and professional standards of past leaders of the legal profession by acclaiming their achievements and extolling their virtues.

To this end, in 1958, the South Carolina Bar and the University of South Carolina School of Law faculty established the memorial repository “Memory Hold the Door.” The University of South Carolina provided a memorial book of finest quality and its handsome glass-topped mahogany repository.

Memorial sketches of those selected to be memorialized are elegantly inscribed in the book. The custodian turns one page each day; thus each sketch is displayed in rotation.

The memorial sketches of past honorees are also available online at www.sctbar.org/memory and www.law.sc.edu/memory.

The Endowment Fund

For each person memorialized, an endowment is contributed by the South Carolina Bar Foundation to the University of South Carolina Educational Foundation. The Honor Roll of memorials is set out in this program.

The purpose of the endowment is to promote, through the law school, the welfare of the legal profession by using the income for lectures, for research and for the development of the law school faculty.

The South Carolina Bar’s Special Endowment Committee is in charge of memorial gifts, and each year it issues invitations for participation to families of those individuals it selects as worthy of inclusion in Memory Hold the Door.

The attorneys remembered in Memory Hold the Door therefore represent a true honor roll of legal profession, selected by their fellow attorneys as best exemplifying the qualities of integrity, professionalism and skill required of the bench and bar.

JAMES D.
BAILEY

James D. Bailey was born September 2, 1946, in New York, New York, to parents Ellen Boehm and George D. Bailey. After briefly attending the University of Tennessee, Jim received his Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Augusta College in 1969. He then proudly served his country in the U.S. Army where he was a Rotary Wing Door Gunner. Due to his education, ability to type, and hobby as a photographer, he became an Aerial Photographer who documented downed helicopter sites while deployed in Bien Hoa, Vietnam. He was awarded the National Defense Service Medal, the Vietnam Service Medal and the Vietnam Campaign Medal, as well as an Army Commendation Medal. On December 24, 1970, he was honorably discharged and surprised his parents by knocking on their door Christmas morning! Best Christmas ever!

After his honorable discharge in 1970, he received his J.D. from the University of South Carolina School of Law in 1974.

After briefly associating with a law firm in Barnwell, SC, he opened his own practice in North Augusta, where he practiced general law. In addition to practicing law, he also taught law classes at the University of South Carolina in Aiken. In 1976, Jim joined Henry Summerall, Jr. and moved to Aiken, practicing general law and becoming a seasoned trial attorney. Because of his experience in criminal defense work, he was appointed many times to represent indigent defendants facing capital punishment. This caused an undue strain financially since he was one of only a few to be repeatedly appointed to handle such demanding cases. As a result, he successfully pioneered legislative reform for fair compensation to attorneys appointed by the State to represent indigent defendants charged with a capital offense. At the time Jim retired, he was facilitating the attorneys tasked with protecting the charitable trust in accordance with soul singer Mr. James Brown's estate plan, in which he had expressly indicated that his music royalties be used to fund educational expenses for children in South Carolina and Georgia. That case would be a fifteen-year battle finally settling in 2021.

He was a member of the SC Bar, and the SC State Ethics Board. He was also tapped to be on the South Carolina State Ethics Board to review charges made against attorneys for veracity and potential punishment if found valid.

Throughout his life, Jim enjoyed his membership at the Palmetto Golf Club, hunting, fishing, camping, wildlife photography, bird watching, cooking, beach trips, telling dad jokes, being a dog whisperer and primarily spending time with his children and grandchildren.

Jim always put his family and faith first. He was an active member of Aiken Council of the Knights of Columbus, served on the St. Mary's Help of Christians Catholic School Board, was a Boy Scout troop leader for many years as his boys and their friends rose through the ranks. He was an assistant baseball coach for the Aiken Recreation Department, and as his children grew up, helped ferry them to and from school and school events, as well as attending all their travel soccer team games. He was active on this committee until he retired.

Jim loved the outdoors, camping, fishing, exploring, and photographing birds and wildflowers. He belonged to the Augusta Sailing Club and was editor of the club newsletter in the '80s. He loved fishing and sailing leisurely around Clark's Hill. An avid hunter, he joined various hunt clubs over the years in pursuit of ducks, quail and deer. One favorite hunting locale was the Crackerneck Wildlife Management Area swamp, using his golden retriever to recover ducks he was successful in downing. He particularly enjoyed camping and hunting on land owned by his dear friend and hunting partner Belton Weeks.

James D. Bailey died on February 15, 2022. He is survived by his spouse of 45 years, Laurie K. Bailey; children, G. Daniel Bailey, II (Tara), Dr. Sarah E. Schlegl (Ben) and J. Sam Bailey (Melissa); grandchildren, Kiley M. Bailey, George D. Bailey, III (Trey), Gavin C. Bailey, J. Bennett Bailey and Harper E. Bailey; and sister, Beverly Sniffin. He was preceded in death by his parents.

He attended the University of Cincinnati majoring in English literature & philosophy. He ran varsity track and joined Beta Theta Pi Fraternity. He obtained his J.D. from the University of Cincinnati and was a member of the Law Review.

A Ford Fellowship then sent him to Harvard Law School where he obtained an L.L.M. He served as the chair of the Faculty Senate, three-time chairmen of the Faculty Advisory Committee, a member of the President's Advisory Group, and President of the Southeastern Law School Association.

During this time, his publications included co-authorship with Patrick Hubbard of "The South Carolina Law Of Torts," which has been updated annually since its original publication. He co-authored several editions of a casebook and treatise "American Conflicts Law" as well as numerous articles in legal journals on law & literature.

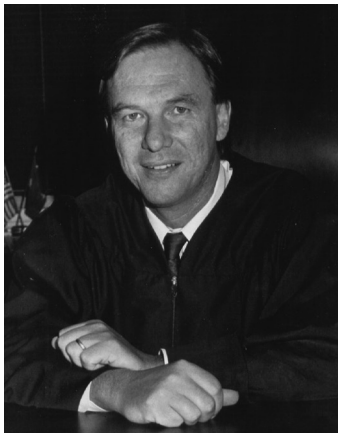

In 1975 he spent a year in France with his family as a visiting lecturer and Fulbright Scholar at the University of Clermont-Ferrand and the University of Brussels.

After nearly 40 years as a full-time faculty member, he retired but continued teaching some of his favorite classes such as Roman Law, Law & Literature and Conflicts of Law at both USC School of Law and Gray's Inn of Court, London, England.

JAMES S.
KONDUROS

Konduros

James S. Konduros was born August 18, 1931, in Anderson, SC, to parents Georgia Antonakos and Sam Konduros. He graduated from the University of South Carolina School of Law in 1954 and was commissioned as a Second Lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force. He served for two years at Moody Air Force Base in Valdosta, GA, as Base Information Officer before being honorably discharged in 1956.

Jim's legal and public service career spanned more than five decades. He served as Legislative Assistant to U.S. Sen. Olin D. Johnston during the early 1960s, where he became involved in the nation's "War on Poverty" initiatives. He returned to South Carolina in 1966 to join Gov. Robert E. McNair's leadership team during one of the most turbulent eras in modern American history. He often recalled the significance of that time, including a memorable meeting alongside Gov. McNair with civil rights leader Martin Luther King, Sr., aimed at improving race relations in the state. Years later, Konduros was awarded an Honorary Doctorate from the University of South Carolina alongside U.S. Rep. John Lewis – a fitting moment of recognition for a life intertwined with historic progress.

During his tenure as director of the Appalachia Commission for South Carolina, he played a vital role in constructing the 72-mile Cherokee Foothills Scenic Highway (SC Hwy 11). He later helped establish the Appalachia Community Service Network, an educational cable channel that laid the groundwork for what would become The Learning Channel (TLC). He was elected to the founding board of TLC and served until its sale to the Discovery Channel.

After Gov. McNair left office in 1971, Jim joined him as co-founder of what would become the McNair Law Firm. He led the governmental affairs division and managed the firm's Washington, D.C. office. His notable legal work included advising Westinghouse in its successful bid to operate the Savannah River Site and serving as senior counsel to Charles Beaman, CEO of Palmetto Health, during the merger that created the health care system now known as Prisma Health Midlands.

In the later phase of his career, Jim turned to philanthropy, becoming president of the PSARAS Foundation, a nonprofit dedicated to supporting education and community services in South Carolina. Through this foundation, he helped establish the Robert E. McNair Scholarship Program at Francis Marion University, which supports rural leadership and public health efforts along the I-95 corridor – one of the state's most underserved regions. The scholarship fully funds students' education, including tuition, housing, and living expenses.

He also championed South Carolina's First Steps program, a groundbreaking early childhood education initiative, and was recognized in 2010 by the South Carolina House of Representatives for his visionary contributions through PSARAS.

Jim later founded the Konduros Fisherman's Fund, inspired by the proverb "Teach a man to fish, and you feed him for a lifetime." In 2012, the fund partnered with the Rachel Hodges Leadership Institute to train more than 350 American Red Cross executives in leadership and disaster response. In 2014, the fund made a $2.15 million gift to the University of South Carolina School of Law to support scholarships, military veterans, and the Konduros Leadership Development Program, which prepares law students for careers in public service. In 2019, the USC School of Law honored his legacy by dedicating the James S. Konduros Courtyard.

A devoted member of Columbia's Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church, he cochaired the $2 million campaign to build a new Hellenic Center Parish Hall. His civic leadership earned him numerous accolades, including South Carolina's highest civilian honor, the Order of the Palmetto, and an honorary doctorate from Francis Marion University.

Beyond his professional accomplishments, he was an avid golfer and a former member of the USC Golf Team. He once led the Windsor (Canada) Open as an amateur and proudly played Augusta National's famous "Amen Corner" one stroke under par.

James S. Konduros died on March 13, 2020. He is survived by his spouse, Kathy Huggins Konduros; children, Dr. Gregory J. Konduros (Cindy), Samuel J. Konduros (Aphrodite), Gia T.C. Diamaduros (Pete); grandchildren, Konstantine Diamaduros (Megan), Ann M. Wooten (Jay), Elee Diamaduros McCloskey (Tommy), Gregory Konduros, Henry S.K. Duffee, Jr., (Staci), Gwyn K. Duffee; great-grandchildren, James I. Wooten, IV, Amelia J. Diamaduros, Peter B. Diamaduros, Henry S.K. Duffee, III and Mary Grace Duffee; and former daughter-in-law, Gracelyn D. Elmendorf (Peter). He was preceded in death by his son, Henry "Skipper" S.K. Duffee, Sr., and a grandson, Robert H.K. Duffee.

HON. DOROTHY
MOBLEY JONES

The Honorable Dorothy Mobley Jones was born October 7, 1952, in Union, SC to parents Mary Louise Setzler and Foster Evans Mobley. She received her bachelor's degree in Education, with a minor in French from the University of South Carolina in 1974.

Before enrolling in the University of South Carolina School of Law, she taught English and French classes at Newberry High School for one school year. In 1978, she received her J.D. from USC School of Law and had the privilege of serving as a law clerk to Second Judicial Circuit Court Judge Rodney A. Peebles from 1978 to 1979.

Following her clerkship, she entered private practice of law, with the firm of Yarborough, Fallon & Mobley in Florence, SC. From 1979 until 1983, she engaged in the general practice of law, which included civil cases, with emphasis on family law, medical tort malpractice and products liability. In 1983, she associated with the law firm of Harvey L. Golden, P.A., and began what would then become a life-long specialization in the practice of Family law. In 1994, she and Ken A. Lester formed the law firm of Lester & Jones, which specialized in family law.

In February 2005, she was elected by the legislature of the State of South Carolina to the position of Fifth Judicial Circuit Family Court judge. She regarded her election to this position as an honor and a sacred opportunity to serve. She believed the judicial branch of government was a hallmark of our democracy, in which people were able to settle grievances peaceably and in a civil manner. As she recognized the court room could be an intimidating environment for lawyers and litigants, she went out of her way to show respect, kindness and patience to everyone who appeared before her.

After retiring from the Court on December 1, 2018, she immediately proceeded to start a mediation practice, which would allow litigants an opportunity to expedite the resolution of their conflicts.

During her legal career, she served on the SC Bar Joint Commission on ADR/ Family Court and was a member of the SC Bar, Richland County Bar Association, Horry County Bar Association, the South Carolina Trial Lawyers' Association and the South Carolina Women Lawyers Association.

For 30 years, she was an advocate and teacher of the law. She participated as a guest lecturer in numerous continuing legal education seminars sponsored by the SC Bar, including "Hot Tips" and the annual "Year End" Bench/Bar seminars for domestic practitioners. She was a recurring presenter with the "Bridge the Gap" program and "Orientation for New Judges School."

By invitation, she served on the committees for the Chief Justice's Docket Management Task Force and the Commission on the Profession. She also served on the Family Court Judges Advisory Committee and was a past chair of the SC Bar Family Law Section Executive Council. For years, she served as a member of the SC Bar Judicial Qualifications Committee.

Judge Mobley Jones was admitted to practice in SC and the U.S. District Court. She had the privilege on numerous occasions of sitting with both the South Carolina Court of Appeals and the South Carolina Supreme Court to deliberate cases.

Her life was filled with love in all areas and it shined through her infectious personality. She frequently enjoyed going to the beach with friends at Edisto Beach and visiting her son, Fendley & his wife, Sydney in Charleston, SC. She was also a dedicated "dog mom" to her precious pup, Hank Jones.

The Honorable Dorothy Mobley Jones died on January 20, 2021. She is survived by her son, Fendley Jones (Sydney); grandchildren, Reagan Jones and Judge Jones (named in her honor); and many cousins, nieces, and nephews. She was preceded in death by her parents and her beloved aunt, Dorothy S. Whitney.
